

Performance Management Overview

Office of Human Resources

Performance Management Objectives

CMC will strive to use its performance management program to accomplish the following objectives:

- Promote two-way performance related communications between supervisors and employees that clarify expectations about the roles, goals, and behavioral accountabilities.
- Promote professional growth for employees by helping them in acquiring the desired knowledge and skills.
- Identify the barriers to effective performance and resolve those barriers through constant coaching and development support.

CMC Performance Management Policies

- Performance Appraisals - The performance appraisal is a systematic review and discussion of an Employee's performance of assigned duties in relation to the position and the progress toward established goals.
- Initial Review Period - All new, transferred, promoted, and rehired Employees are subject to an Initial Review Period for the first 180 calendar days after their date of hire or placement into a position.
- Annual Performance Review - Annual performance evaluations provide an objective, consistent, and fair way to gauge each Employee's on-the-job effectiveness. The evaluation process is also a time when work standards, areas for improvement, career development, and possible opportunities and goals are discussed.

Key Components of Performance Management

Process

- The series of actions and steps that define the performance appraisal process.

Goal Setting

- The identification of goals involving both employee and supervisor.

Competencies

- The knowledge, skills, and attributes required in the pursuit of performance goals.

Feedback and Coaching

- Conversations between a supervisor and an employee used to support the employee.

Ratings and Evaluations

- The classification system used in defining and evaluating performance.

CMC Performance Management Steps

1. Employee completes self-assessment
2. Supervisor completes performance evaluation for each direct report.
3. The next level Manager reviews and approves the performance evaluation.
4. Human Resources reviews and approves the performance evaluation
5. The supervisor conducts in-person performance review meetings with each employee.
6. The supervisor confirms they met with the Employee and submits the review in Workday.
7. Employee and Supervisor electronically acknowledge the review in Workday.

Staff Performance Management Ratings

Scale	Rating Name	Definition
0	Does Not Apply	Competency rating is not applicable.
1	Does Not Meet Expectations	Performance was consistently below expectations in most essential areas of responsibility, and/or reasonable progress toward critical goals was not achieved. Significant improvement is needed in one or more important areas. A performance improvement plan is required.
2	Needs Improvement	Performance did not consistently meet expectations, performance failed to meet expectations in one or more essential areas of responsibility, and/or one or more of the critical goals was not met.
3	Meets Expectations	Capable and satisfactory performance that met expectations and occasionally exceeded job requirements.
4	Exceeds Expectations	Strong performance that consistently met and frequently exceeded expectations. All goals, objectives, and targets were achieved above the established standards.
5	Exceptional Performance	Performance represents an extraordinary level of achievement and commitment. This rating should be reserved for truly outstanding performance.

Comments are recommended for all ratings of a 1 or 2, so that employees will be provided with information and clarity on how to achieve effective performance expectations.

Performance Improvement Plan (PIP)

- When an employee's overall performance has been appraised and rated on the performance evaluation form as "does not meet expectations", the supervisor and department Vice President should contact the Office of Human Resources to discuss and determine further appropriate next steps.
- A formal Performance Improvement Plan (PIP) documents that performance is not meeting the requirements or the expectations of the supervisor. It identifies the performance gaps and/or behavioral issues that are a problem and emphasizes the need for improved performance and/or corrected behavior.
- Generally, employees on a PIP are provided 90 days to improve performance.
- Supervisors must maintain active contact with the employee throughout the duration of the PIP and document this.
- Supervisors are required to consult with the Office of Human Resources before placing any employee on a Performance Improvement Plan.

Performance Management Timeline

- 1. February 17, 2025 – HR will launch performance reviews in Workday for all eligible employees
 - The 2024 performance review period covers work performed between January 1, 2024, through December 31, 2024, and applies to all existing employees who have successfully completed an initial Introductory Review
 - All staff members hired in 2024 will receive an initial Introductory Review after completion of 180 days of employment, and thereafter, will participate in the annual review process.
- 2. March 17, 2025 - Employees and Supervisors should plan to complete and submit the performance evaluations in Workday
